Editorial

Our next outing is Shannon's Eastern Creek Classic Show & Shine. Tony De Luca has informed me that he has sent out 1998 tickets for the show. That is outstanding, it is no doubt the largest event for the veteran, vintage and classic cars in Australia. Also we have a busy time ahead in regards to runs and outings. The British display day is held on the next weekend after Shannon's. In September we have a club run to Motto Farm and the Orange Blossom Festival.

Most of our members have paid their membership fees, which is most pleasing to see, also it is great to welcome new members Aaron Wells and Kevin Cross to our club and both of them are going to attend the National Meeting next year.

The recent outing to the Tram Museum was a good day even though the weather was very bleak.

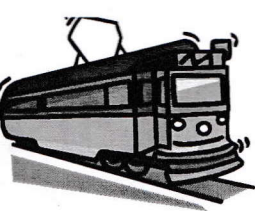

The National committee has been progressing well and the organisation of the events are all falling into place.

Please note that the A.G.M. Will be held on 16th September in our club rooms after our general meeting (approx at 8:30pm).

Well that is it for now and I hope to see you all at our next meeting night.

Joe Green

Tram Museum Day 2009

Well Sunday 26th July was a very overcast, cold and cloudy day, however this did not prevent the stalwarts of our club from visiting the Tram Museum at Loftus. Sue and myself left home at about 9:00am and arrived at the venue at about 9:30am, we parked the Force 7 in the car park adjacent to the Tram Museum.

Soon after an official from the Museum approached us and asked if we were with a car club, of course we said yes, so he invited us to move the car into an area of the museum adjacent to the Tram Tracks. We moved the Force 7 to the position as directed and then a few of the early visitors came over to us and were very interested in the Force 7. We talked to them about all the usual facts relating to the Leyland Company for a considerable time.

The Ron Frith arrived and not long after Ian and Bev Lyons, Tony and Kay and their grandkids Pete and Emma, then last but not least our friends Frank and Veeny.

So we all decided to have morning tea and set ourselves up in one of the converted tram sheds and had a nice morning tea, all the ladies bought along fresh cakes they were very nice.

After this we decided to go for a tram ride to National Park, it was a fun ride and guess what number our tram was, yes 76.

We then decided to go on a tour of the Museum, this was most interesting, there is a great deal of Nostalgia at this Museum, and the dedication of the volunteers is incredible. The painstaking work that has been carried out on all types of trams is a real credit to the tradespersons and those who have assisted as the workmanship and craft work that has been achieved is of such very high standard.

Some trams have been acquired from interstate and also overseas. There is an ex-prison tram on display that is unique. They also have a large passenger tram from the USA and there is also on show a fixed heavy metal device that was used to stop trams from running into Sydney Harbour. The interior of the trams is very interesting as they have a great deal of old fashioned signage on the walls and on one of the trams I noticed in had 'smoking' signs on every window of each compartment, how times have changed. Also the wooden running boards looked great, there were so many old photographs and memorabilia displayed on the walls of the Museum. This is a place that I would encourage anyone to visit and you would be sure to have an enjoyable day.

We then decided to move on to Symbio Wildlife Garden Park at Helensburgh, however it just started to rain as we left. Anyhow Sue and myself were leading the way in the Force 7 when a van drove up beside us, the driver was waving madly at us. It was one of our club members Jim Bennett who was in his work van and must have been going back to his newly acquired farm at Goulburn. We could not stop, we turned off at Helensburgh. When we arrived at Symbio it started to rain very heavy so we decided to call it a day and we all headed off home after another enjoyable day.

Joe Green.

Joe and myself recently visited Don and Valda, they were very pleased to see us and we were happy to spend some time with them and it was good to know that they get enjoyment from our newsletter.

Just a Reminder

How often do we know we have a particular maintenance task to do on our cars, regardless of make or model, and we tend to put it off until another day using any number of excuses. In my case it is the annual flush of the brake system of my 'P'. I don't use the car very much as it is on club plates so it sits under cover for most of the year. It was Pink Slip time a few weeks back and when I took the car to the mechanic for its check-up, I asked if he could flush the brake system. He gave the pedal a few good pumps and agreed it was a little soft. His initial diagnosis was that the fluid was leaking out the back of the master cylinder. The master cylinder had quite a bit of "gunk" in the bottom and some difficulty was experienced when trying to bleed the rear cylinders. It was eventually found that the two steel pipes to the wheel cylinders were partially blocked and the rubber hose that goes over the diff. was completely blocked.

So, with two new wheel cylinders, new rear brake lines and a new master cylinder, the brakes work as expected. Now that is the reminder, don't put off flushing the brake system, it can be costly.

Now, having related this matter to you, I must add the next matter. I need to sell this car as I can't find the time in the immediate future to repair the rust damage that must be attended to immediately. This rust is in the front door sill/pillar junction which is considered a structural problem (why when a P76 is built so strong) to them that make the rules. There is other rust along the bottom of the rear window and under the petrol filler hatch.

It is a Nutmeg Brown, Super V8 and runs quite well. I have just had it re-registered.

If any reader is interested in a challenging repair, please contact Ron Naylor on 9790-4010. Sale price can be discussed at time of inspection.

ENGLISH MAXI CLUB FRIENDS

Whilst in London at the beginning of our recent overseas trip, we took the Flying Scotsman from Kings Cross Station to Peterborough where we had arranged to meet up with my long-time friends, Chris & Ernie Jackson, who belong to the Austin Maxi Club in England.

They were waiting for us as the train pulled into the Station and we walked with them through the enormous Cathedral in Peterborough and the city with its shops and malls.

It was great to finally meet them after corresponding for around 15 years, as a member of the Maxi Club. We lunched together in a pub and talked about Maxis (naturally) and the involvement in car clubs, both in Australia and England.

One of the major differences with car club outings is that the English Club often drive to Europe for the weekend. They find it hard to believe the distances that we travel between States here in Australia.

Ernie has very generously sent me much needed information on the Austin Maxi Automatic Transmission. This will enable me to understand the workings of the transmission more thoroughly - something that I have needed to do for years!

We briefed both Chris and Ernie on the P76 scene in Australia, as this aspect of British Leyland is not well known in England.

Ernie and Chris have further involvement in Mazda MX5's as well as their intense involvement in the Austin Maxi Club in England.

Both Kay and I would have liked to join the Maxi Club on an outing in England, however on this occasion it was not possible. Hopefully some time in the future this may happen.

We were most appreciative of their hospitality and company on the day.
